Key Practices

The Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee has adopted the following key practices to assist it in undertaking the functions and responsibilities set forth in its Charter:

1. Method of Evaluating Board and Committee Effectiveness. The Committee will oversee the self-evaluation process which will be used by the Board and by its Committees to determine their effectiveness and identify opportunities for improvement. The Board and Committee self-evaluations should be done annually at their February meetings. In this regard, the Corporate Secretary will contact each director soliciting comments with respect to both the full Board and any Committee on which the director serves, as well as director performance and board dynamics. These comments should focus on how the Board can improve its key functions of overseeing executive development, financial performance, and other major issues such as business strategy, risk management, reputation and matters of corporate governance. In particular, the process will solicit ideas from directors concerning:
 - improving prioritization of issues;
 - improving the quality of Board and Committee meeting material and information;
 - improving quality of Board or Committee discussions on key matters;
 - identifying how specific issues over the past year could have been handled better;
 - identifying specific issues which should be discussed in the future; and
 - identifying any other matter of importance to Board functioning.

The Corporate Secretary will work with the Committee Chairs and the Chairman of the Board of Directors to organize the comments. Following that, appropriate options for changes at either the Board or Committee level will be determined. At the Board and Committee meetings, time will be allocated to discuss the comments and reach decisions relating to actionable items.

2. Principles for Board Compensation. In recommending to the Board the compensation and benefits for non-employee directors, the Committee will be guided by the following objectives: (1) compensation should fairly pay directors for work required in a company of size and scope; (2) compensation should, if possible, align directors' interests with the longterm interests of shareholders; (3) and the structure of the compensation should be simple, transparent and easy for shareholders to understand. In implementing these goals, the Committee will recommend appropriate fees for non-employee and employee directors. With the endorsement of the Board these fees are submitted for ratification to the shareholders at the annual general meeting.
 - Committee Compensation. Additional compensation will be paid to directors serving on the Audit Committee, the Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee, and the Compensation Committee. These fees will be presented and endorsed by the Board and submitted for ratification to the shareholders at the annual general meeting.
3. Director Nominee Qualifications and Process. The Committee's minimum qualifications and specific qualities and skills required for directors are set forth in section 3 of the Company's Corporate Governance Guidelines. In addition, the Committee considers potential candidates recommended by current directors, Company officers, employees and others in the same manner regardless of the source of the recommendation.
